1 Ffynnon Sant Tecla

Gyda nodweddion iachau arbennig y credir eu bod yn gwella epilepsi neu glwyf Tegla, roedd llawer o ddioddefwyr yn ymweld â ffynnon Sant Tegla, gan obeithio cael eu gwella o'u hanhwylder drwy ddilyn defod gymhleth. Mae dŵr yn dal i fod yn y ffynnon sydd wedi'i leinio â slabiau a datgelodd gwaith cloddio yn 1930au wrthrychau a daflwyd i mewn gan y rhai a fyddai'n gweddio i Sant Tegla.

Mae'r ffynnon nid nepell o'r eglwys; dilynwch yr arwyddost gyferbyn ag ardal picnic y pentref.

1 St Tecla's Well

With special healing properties believed to cure epilepsy or clwyf Tegla (Tegla's disease), many sufferers visited St Tecla's well, hoping to be cured of their ailment by following a complex ritual. Water still lies in the slab lined well and excavations in the 1930's revealed objects thrown in by those praying to St Tecla.

The well is a short distance from the church; follow the sign post opposite the village picnic area.

2 Llwybr Cenedlaethol Clawdd Offa

3 Masnach Gynnar

Roedd unwaith yn arosfan dros nos bwysig i borthmyn ar y daith i Loegr, ac roedd gan Landegla 16 o dafarnau a thrif efeiliau i ateb y galw! Roedd gan y Crown, un o ddim ond dau o'r hen dafarndai sy'n dal ar agror heddiw (y llall yw y Plough), farchnad anifeiliaid ar draws y ffordd, ar yr hyn sydd bellach yn faes parcio.

3 Early Trade

Once an important overnight drover's stop on the journey to England, Llandegla had 16 inns and three smithies to meet the demand! The Crown, one of only two of the old inns still open today (the other being the Plough) had a livestock market across the road, on what is now the car park.

4 Bodidris

Credir ei fod yn dyddio i 450AD, ac mae gan Bodidris hanes hir a lliwgar sy'n gysylltiedig â Thywysogion Powys ac, oherwydd ei agosrwydd at y ffin â Lloegr, mae'r neuadd wedi ei dinistrio nifer o weithiau mewn brwydr. Mae'r neuadd bresennol yn dyddio i'r 16eg ganrif ac wedi ei lleoli ar y ffin sirol rhwng Sir Ddinbych a Sir y Fflint. Mae carreg y tu allan i'r neuadd yn dangos lleoliad y ffin. Ysgrifennodd y teithiwr a'r awdur Cymreig Thomas Pennant yn 1778 fod gan y bwrdd gwredda yn y neuadd ben ym mhob sir!

4 Bodidris

Believed to date to 450AD, Bodidris has a long and colourful history associated with the Princes of Powys. Due to its proximity to the English border, the hall has been destroyed a number of times in battle. The present hall dates to the 16th Century and is situated on the county boundary between Denbighshire and Flintshire. A stone outside the hall indicates the location of the boundary and the Welsh traveller and writer Thomas Pennant wrote in 1778 that the banquet table in the hall had an end in each county!
